

Volunteer Faculty Co-ordinators Needed

Power Shift 2009 will be Australia's first national youth climate summit, a historic moment in time where over 4000 young people from all around Australia will converge on Sydney to empower a truly diverse network of young leaders, to demand that the Government deal with global warming seriously, and to focus our energy to force political change for a POWER SHIFT to a clean energy future.

The summit will be held in April 2009, a point at which national emissions trading legislation will be being debated in a Senate Committee and at the stage of almost being passed, and almost a month before the federal budget.

Power Shift will be a key event for Australian youth to share best practices, build community, learn skills and solutions, set clear and ambitious plans for action, and pressure our political leaders for stronger climate solutions.

We need Faculty Co-ordinators to help launch a campaign to generate buzz on the ground at campus about Power Shift in order to sign-up as many attendees as possible for the summit.

Skills required:

- Enthusiasm for the role!
- Good project management skills
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills
- Ability to take initiative
- Strategic thinking

What you get out of it:

- develop your leadership and political organising skills in a supportive and fun team environment
- experience in the climate change and advocacy sector and opportunity to develop transferable skills

For more information or to apply, contact Ramya Krishnan (University of Sydney Campus Co-ordinator) on 0421115563 or email ramy_kris@hotmail.com

